Certain recipients allow us to track the number of times your news release was viewed on their web site or delivery system. Given only a portion of recipients allow tracking, the number of tracked views captured here is conservative when considering your story's total readership. Tracked views captured allow for the presentation of the map below, illustrating where your readers are in the world. Additional options allow for the partitioning of tracked views by recipient, country, browser, device type, hour, day, and provider (ISP).
